REASONS FOR DESIGNATION

Description of Property –531 Main Street, Hawley House

531 Main Street, Bath, is a one and a half storey rectangular building with a side gabled roof and a one-story stone shed addition on the west side of the structure. The building is located on the south side of Main Street in the Village of Bath.

Statement of Cultural Heritage Value or Interest

The structure, constructed circa 1785, has architectural significance as one of the oldest buildings in Ontario and the oldest continuously occupied residence in Ontario.

The structure is associated with, and built by, Jephtha Hawley, a United Empire Loyalist related to an old Connecticut family and one of the original settlers of the area. Hawley served with the British as early as 1776, commanding fifty men in General Burgoyne's expedition and in 1777 was paid as a lieutenant in Captain Adams Rangers. Captain Hawley played a significant role in the refugee lives of fifteen Loyalist families who settled in Loyalist Township, commanding the barracks at Machiche in 1784 until their departure for resettlement in May of that year. By 1784 Jephtha Hawley settled in Ernestown Township and by 1792 constructed a grist mill on Mill Creek.

The Hawley House is associated with the first church service in the community, when several families of the Village of Bath gathered at the Hawley House to hear Captain Hawley read prayers and liturgy. The Hawley House provided early Loyalist settlers of the region with a space to practice their religion.

The stone addition of the home is associated with Reverend John Langhorn, the Quinte Region's first resident Anglican clergyman and missionary. The stone wing of Hawley was rented to Rev. John Langhorn until 1797. During this time Rev. Langhorn established St. John's Anglican Church in the Village of Bath.

The Hawley House has cultural and contextual value as an early structure in the Village of Bath which helped establish settlement. The date of construction of the house is circa 1784-1785 and the stone wing existed by fall of 1787. The structure predates the existence of Main street, Bath and endures as a component through the development of the Village, which eventually came to incorporate the house.

Description of Heritage Attributes

- Stone addition on the west side of the building.
