NOTICE OF INTENT TO DESIGNATE UNDER THE ONTARIO HERITAGE ACT

Re: Notice of Intent to Designate 8785 Dufferin Street pursuant to Part IV, Section 29 of the Ontario Heritage Act.

INTENT TO DESIGNATE UNDER THE ONTARIO HERITAGE ACT

Please take notice that the Council of the Corporation of the City of Vaughan intends to designate for reasons of cultural heritage value or interest, pursuant to Part IV, Section 29 of the Ontario Heritage Act the property municipally known as 8785 Dufferin Street in the City of Vaughan, in the Province of Ontario.

REASONS FOR PROPOSED DESIGNATION

The structure located at 8785 Dufferin Street is a one-storey frame church that was built in 1888. It is unique, and the last of its kind in Vaughan. Measuring approximately 36 feet by 60 feet, it was built in the plain style of the "meeting house." The reasoning for the selection of the style, was for the church to be an embodiment of the congregation's faith and values, which focuses on simplicity, piety, and spirituality.

This property was long associated with the Cober (Cover) family, who were German-Pennsylvanian, and who were one of the first families to settle in Vaughan. Nicholas Cober junior was the main carpenter, and he was assisted by neighbouring families including the Keffers, Bakers, Reamans, Wingers, and various others.

The church is a small structure, with the main entrance facing Dufferin Street. The front elevation has a single door at the centre, with stone slab steps leading to it. The north and south walls each contain three windows that are evenly spaced, and they have nine over six panes of glass. Located at back of the structure is a door that is off-centre. The cladding is shiplap siding sourced from the local first growth white pine in this area and was historically always painted white. A drive shed, also located on the property, is set back from the church: it is a rectangular shaped frame structure constructed with vertical plank siding – it is not painted.
