other manor-type farmhouses owned by gentleman farmers who significantly promoted and advanced agricultural education, innovation and efficiency in the Township.

Design Value:

Built by James Anderson, c. 1865 and named "Springfield Farm", the property is a singular example of a two-storey yellow brick manor-type farmhouse constructed in the Italianate style, and the foremost example of Italianate residential architecture in brick in the Township. Italianate architecture incorporates picturesque details, projected bays or towers and ornamented alterations to Georgian and Neoclassic design. Such details included in this property are a symmetrical five-bay Neoclassical facade with a low-hip roof and wide eaves. A central two-storey projected bay has an entrance porch (replacement of original porch) on the lower storey and paired arched windows on the second storey under a gable, also features of Italianate architecture. The facade features tall rectangular windows on both storeys with brick label stops. The yellow brick construction is notably early for the Township and the bricks were likely sourced from the Morriston brickyard. A one-and-one-half storey end gabled kitchen tail in yellow brick, perpendicular to the main part of the property, extends at the rear of the building.

Historical/ Associative Value:

In 1861, James Anderson from Ayrshire, Scotland, purchased the property. After his marriage to Margaret Smart in 1862, he erected the large yellow brick Italianate manor-type farmhouse. Anderson named his extensive and productive agricultural property "Springfield Farm." A founder of the Puslinch Farmer's Club, Anderson significantly promoted and advanced agricultural education, innovation and efficiency for farmers in the Township in the mid to late nineteenth century.

Contextual Value:

Sited on a hill overlooking the Speed River, the property is located adjacent to other manor-type farmhouses built by gentleman farmers who were colleagues of James Anderson in the Puslinch Farmer's Club.
