Schedule "A"

59 Division St. South
Kingsville, Ontario
The Francis R. Webb House

Description of Property: The Francis R. Webb House

Constructed in 1909 The Francis R. Webb House is a 2-storey brick building in the Colonial Revival style located at 59 Division St. South in Kingsville

Statement of Cultural Heritage Value or Interest:

The building's cultural heritage value lies in its association with Francis R. Webb (1846-1922). Mr. Webb was born in Mount Brydges, Ontario and was a very successful mercantile businessman who lived at several locations before he settled in Kingsville on a farm east of the Town. In 1906 he moved to Blenheim where he purchased a dry goods business. In 1908 he returned to Kingsville where he purchased the clothing and furnishing business of P. D. Hendershott and commissioned the building of this home. Mr. Webb was a merchant of high regard and a staunch Methodist.

The cultural heritage value of the Francis R. Webb house also lies in its being an example of the Colonial Revival style of private dwelling in Kingsville. The building has a cut fieldstone foundation and is constructed with Broadwell brick and was built by the Oxley brothers. It features a hip roof, cross gable with eaves across, full width one storey porch with gable, doric columns, flat arches, louvered shutters, central chimney, smooth faced lintels and has a bracketed top above the side door.

Description of Heritage Attributes:

Key attributes that embody the heritage value of the Francis R. Webb house include several examples of fine or unique craftsmanship. These include: large front picture window which is hinged at the top so that it opens up and out from the bottom; wooden staircase with ornate newel post and bannister with spindles; decorative wood trim around windows and doors; seven inch high baseboards; hardwood flooring; pocket doors separating the dining room from living room; mirrored closet door; built in cupboard; and original pendulum light fixture.
