Schedule "A"

To by-law #1-1997

Property Designation
North lanark Registry office

Town of Almonte
125 Brougham Street
Almonte, Ontario K0A 1A0

Short Designation:

The former North Lanark Registry Office at 125 Brougham Street located in the Town of Almonte, was built in 1879 to replace a smaller building, following the standard design for Ontario Registry offices by Provincial Architect Kivas Tully.

This impressive grey limestone structure occupies a prominent location in Almonte, as well as playing an important role in the history of the town since all land transactions for the area were registered there.

The classic revival influence predominates with arched windows on either side of the central door. Detailing such as cornerstones, keystones and quoins in dark brown stone.

This building was a focal point in Almonte for over 100 years of business, and is worthy of heritage designation as a sample of a stone building in almost its original state.
