SCHEDULE “B” TO BY-LAW NO. 2024-0064

REASONS FOR DESIGNATION

Description of Property

The subject property is located along the southeast side of Queen Street in the community of Georgetown. The property is a rectangular parcel, with an extension of the parcel extending to Murdock Street at the rear lot line of the property to the southwest. The lot contains a single detached dwelling set back from the right of way on a hill, as are many of the homes along the southeast side of Queen Street.

Statement of Cultural Heritage Value or Interest

The property at 50 Queen Street has physical and design value as a representative example of a late-nineteenth-century Gothic Revival residential building within the community of Georgetown in the Town of Halton Hills. Architectural details extant within the Bailey-Thompson House include its one-and-a-half storey L-shaped form, steeply pitched roof with front gable, bargeboard and finials, segmentally arched window openings throughout, projecting bay at the first storey, and the covered verandah.

The property at 50 Queen Street has historical and associative value due to its builder Thomas Bailey and its long-time ownership by the Thompson family. Carpenter Thomas Bailey built the home shortly after purchasing the property, and in addition to being part of the Methodist Church in Georgetown Bailey rented several houses on Queen Street before relocating to Toronto. The family of John A. Thompson owned the subject property for almost 40 years, between 1911 and 1950 when it was sold by the family. John Thompson was the son of early Georgetown settlers and was a prominent community member, involved in the Independent Order of Foresters, the Wesleyan Methodist church, and was a member and treasurer of the Georgetown Public School.

The property at 50 Queen Street has contextual value as it serves to maintain and support the character of the surrounding area. Located on a rise above Queen Street in Georgetown since its construction in the late-nineteenth century, the Bailey-Thompson house remains physically, functionally, visually, and historically linked to its surroundings in the residential neighbourhood. The property is set back from the street and has not been identified as a landmark.
